Tom Rawson, from Orcas Island, is the Northwest's very own version of Pete Seeger. Armed with longneck banjo and other weapons of mass delight, Tom is a master of warmth and wit who loves to share his musical treasures with an 'I know something you don't know and you're gonna love it too' kind of smile. From gospel to contemporary, profound to downright silly, Tom will have you singing, clapping, and laughing along all night. Tune up your vocal chords; you'll need 'em!

Tom Rawson has a great talent for inspiring people to come together, and on this night, it was to sing along with nearly every song he played. With his disarming manner and generous heart, he fed us lyrics like he was cooking us supper. The result was a houseful of people united in song. --S. Jaen Black, Orcas News and Review
